POINTERS ON WITNESSING TO JEWS

Introduction

By reading this brochure, you are indicating an interest in sharing your faith in Y'shua (Jesus) with Jewish people! Maybe you have a Jewish neighbor . . . or friend, or classmate, or even a Jewish relative. Or maybe you just want to be prepared for the next time you met a Jewish person. Here are some things you should know that will help you be a more effective witness.

Basics

Everybody needs to hear the gospel. And God's chosen people (the Jews) are certainly no exception. Y'shua came in fulfillment of the writings of Jewish prophets who were writing to Jewish people. So if Jews don't need Jesus, no one does! Yes, Jews and Gentiles both need salvation in Jesus, but you don't have to be Jewish to have an effective witness to Jewish people.

Jewish Identity and Belief

Virtually all Jews are proud of their identity as Jews, but this does not in itself make a statement about what they believe about God. Even religious Jews may have varying beliefs about God. It is more important to find out what your friends believe about God and the Bible than to find out what kind of synagogue they attend. For many Jews, their Jewish identity is more cultural than it is religious. But this doesn't mean that their Jewishness is unimportant to them. Most Jews also think that the opposite of Jewish is Christian, and so for them to consider Jesus is problematic because it means considering losing their Jewish identity. Therefore, when witnessing to Jewish people about Jesus it is important to stress that they do not need to give up their identity as Jews in order to embrace Jesus as Messiah.

Myths

There are several popular myths which keep people from sharing with their Jewish friends. Some of them include:

Myth: All Jews are well versed in the Old Testament.

Fact: Most Jews have a strong cultural identity, with a very limited knowledge of the Scriptures.

Myth: I can just invite my Jewish friend to my church.

Fact: Many Jewish people might be hesitant to attend church. There is no substitute for you personally sharing your faith

Myth: I may not be able to answer their questions.

Fact: That's true. But it does not change the truth of the gospel. Tell your friend you are happy to research the information. This gives you an opportunity to have further witnessing opportunities too.

Myth: I need to wait for the Holy Spirit's leading. I don't want to lose my friends.

Fact: God has already told us we are to be his witnesses. (Mt. 28:19-20) If you are friendly and forthright you will gain your friends' respect for genuinely caring, even if they don't agree to discuss the matter at length.

Myth: I will let my life be a testimony and wait until they ask me about Jesus.

Fact: That will likely be a long wait. Most Jewish people feel that religion is a private matter and might be uncomfortable asking. Besides, the Great Commission commands us to go tell!

Practical Tips

When witnessing to a Jewish person, remember:

1. Make friends. Demonstrate that you really care about the person. Affirm the fact that you know they are Jewish and that you appreciate their Jewishness. Let your friendship serve as the foundation for your witness to them.
2. Be up-front. Declare yourself a follower of Jesus right away. You do not want to appear deceptive or coercive. Be yourself.
3. Ask questions. Everyone likes to be asked their opinion. This can be a good way to steer the conversation towards spiritual matters. Questions about Israel, an upcoming Jewish holiday or even a Bible question from the Old Testament are a good place to start.
4. Give a personal testimony. The reality of God in your life is a powerful witness. Many Jewish people think that you were born a Christian, in the same way that they were born Jewish. Hearing how you became a follower of Jesus, how God answers your prayers, can provoke your Jewish friend to jealousy. (Rom.11:11)
5. Use Scripture. Don't be afraid to answer questions with a verse from the Bible. Encourage your Jewish friend to read the New Testament. Most Jewish people have never read the New Testament, and most Jews who have come to faith in Christ came as a result of reading the New Testament. After all, it is a very Jewish book!
6. Be prayerfully persistent. Don't be put off if you receive a negative reaction at first. In fact, you should expect it. Keep looking for opportunities. Keep praying. Seek to introduce your friend to a Jewish believer, or even to one of us in Jews for Jesus. Lend books or other evangelistic literature.
7. Ask for a decision and follow up. Don't think that your Jewish friend will automatically understand that they need to pray to receive Christ. If they are a willing listener then you should ask if they are willing to receive what you have said for themselves. Be diligent to follow up any decision. Contact Jews for Jesus for help discipling the new Jewish believer.
